

IMPORTANT INFORMATION REGARDING COUNTRY RESTRICTIONS FOR WD BRANDED PRODUCTS WITH INTERNAL WI-FI/RADIO MODULES - WD TV Live Streaming Media Player

Dear Valued WD Customer:

WD products that have an internal Wireless Radio module must comply with country certification requirements. As a result, we are subject to legal constraints for shipping WD products with Wi-Fi capability into specific countries until such certification has been received.

Each country controls its wireless communication channels for their internal purposes, such as military, Emergency Response, air traffic control, and Law and Safety communications. In addition to the specific channel frequencies we use, some countries also restrict the transmitting power of the Radio device in the allowable channels.

WD must obtain approval from each country in which we intend to sell WD products that feature a Wi-Fi/Radio module in order to ensure that our product is not operating in, or interfering on, the channels and frequencies restricted by that country. As a result, for WD products that feature a Wi-Fi/Radio module, WD must implement country-specific launch plans rather than regional-based launch plans to comply with certification and labeling requirements to display the required approvals.

Description of Change:

Effective:

Failure to adhere to these restrictions may result in fines and penalties on the importer or reseller which WD assumes no liability for. This list may be updated regularly as WD adds country certifications, please re-check regularly.
