

END USER SUPPORT AND PROFESSIONAL SERVICES AGREEMENT

This End User Support and Professional Services Agreement (the "Agreement") governs the provision of certain product-related support and services by Western Digital Technologies, Inc. or an affiliate of Western Digital Technologies, Inc. ("Vendor") for certain Western Digital products. The customer that purchases support or professional services ("Customer") accepts this Agreement by any of the following: submitting an order that Vendor accepts, accepting this Agreement at the time of registration, or receiving Support or Professional Services. The person accepting this Agreement for Customer represents that he or she has the authority to bind Customer to this Agreement.

1. Provision of Product Support

1.1 Contact. Customer shall designate a point of contact for the Support and Professional Services it orders. Customer's point of contact may be changed by accessing Vendor's support website.

1.2 Support and Support Descriptions. Customer has or may purchase or license Vendor products (hereinafter referred to as the "Products"), either directly or from an authorized reseller, for internal use and may desire to receive the support services described herein ("Support") for such Products. Subject to this Agreement (including Customer's payment of the applicable fees) and upon Vendor's acceptance of an order for Support, Vendor shall make reasonable efforts to provide the Support described in the applicable then-current support description posted on Vendor's support web site (each, a "Support Description"). Vendor may change a Support Description for a Product at any time by posting a new Support Description on its support web site. This Agreement only covers Support described in a Support Description. No other support will be provided under this Agreement.

1.3 Technical Assistance. Vendor will make reasonable efforts to provide customer with the technical assistance described in the applicable Support Description by phone, email or through Vendor's support web site during for incidents related to a Product's failure to meet Vendor's published specifications. Unless otherwise indicated in the applicable Support Description, Support does not include on-site assistance. "Response targets" identified in a Support Description are only targets and are not binding on Vendor.

1.4 Hardware Replacement. If advance replacement of a defective Product or Product hardware component ("Component") is included in the applicable Support Description, Customer must return the defective Product or Component according to Vendor's then-current return-material authorization process to the location designated by Vendor and within the time period specified by Vendor (or within 30 days of the date on which the replacement Product or Component is shipped, if no time period is specified). Hardware returns that are improperly packaged or do not include the required information (including RMA number) may be refused and returned to the Customer at its expense. Vendor may invoice Customer for the then-current list price of any Product or Component not returned to Vendor within the required time. Customer is responsible for removing all information and data that Customer has stored on any memory, including but not limited to hard disk drives and solid state drives ("drives") before Customer returns the drives for repair or replacement. Customer is responsible for ensuring that it removes any kind of removable media (e.g., tapes) prior to returning any drives.

If a Product fails, Vendor may utilize new or refurbished parts to repair Products or replace Components. Refurbished parts will be "like new" according to standards set by Vendor. If Vendor cannot provide replacement Components, it may instead provide a product with at least equivalent capabilities to replace the failed Product. If such equivalent product is not readily obtainable, Vendor may provide a credit based on the original Product purchase price and remaining support and/or warranty life. If Vendor elects an equivalent product replacement or credit, Customer must return, and Vendor must receive, the complete failed product before the replacement or credit is provided.

1.5 On-site Field Technician. If included in the applicable Support Description, upon Customer's request, Vendor will use its commercially reasonable efforts to dispatch a field service technician ("FST") to the affected Customer site in accordance with the terms and timeframes detailed in the applicable Support Description. On-Site FST is limited to hardware replacement only. Vendor does not provide on-site software assistance. On-site FST dispatch may not be available for some products, or in some geographic regions, and if desired for on-going support, may require a set-up period before it is made available to Customer. During such "set up" period, Vendor will use commercially reasonable efforts to provide to Customer the closest available service then available with respect to such Product line, or in such geographic region. All on-site services are provided in the regional time zone where Vendor's records show the Product is located.

1.6 Software Fixes and Updates. For Support Descriptions that include software bug fixes, patches and/or certain updates (together, "Updates"), Vendor will make available to Customer those Updates that are made generally available for no additional fee to its customers entitled to support. Unless otherwise indicated in writing by Vendor, Support does not include software updates that provide new features or functionality.

1.7 No-return Option. If Customer purchases a "No-return Option" in connection with any Product, Customer may, during the applicable warranty period for the Product, elect to receive a No Return Remedy (defined below) in lieu of the remedy available in Vendor's published warranty for the Product. The No Return Remedy applies to storage devices (e.g., hard disk drives and solid state drives) included as part of the Product but does not include other Components such as enclosures or cabling. To receive a No Return Remedy, Customer must first submit a Certificate of Destruction in a form reasonably required by Vendor. The term "No Return Remedy" means, at Vendor's option, either: a) the delivery of a replacement Product (new or refurbished) that is the equivalent of the defective Product or (b) the issuance of a credit at the then current credit warranty value. In either case, Customer will not be required to return the defective Product.

1.8 Exclusions. Vendor shall have no obligation to provide Support in the event: (a) Customer has not paid the Support fee for the applicable Product(s), (b) Customer modifies the Product(s) without Vendor's written authorization, (c) Customer has failed to perform normal preventative maintenance in accordance with Vendor's recommendations, (d) the problem is due to Customer's negligence, or hardware or software not provided by Vendor, (e) the problem is due to Customer's failure to implement an Update made available by Vendor, (f) the problem is the result of installation in an unsupported environment, (g) the problem is caused by third party technology, including but not limited to changes to Customer's operating system or hardware environment, (h) the problem is due to damage to the Product not caused by Vendor, (i) Vendor has declared end-of-support or discontinued support for the Product, or (j) there are other causes not within Vendor's control. In the event the Products are used or refurbished and/or Customer is not the original user of the Products, Customer may be required to ship such Products to Vendor for recertification prior to Vendor providing Support and pay Vendor's then-current recertification fee.

2. Professional Services

2.1 Provision of Professional Services. Subject to this Agreement (including Customer's payment of the applicable fees) and upon Vendor's acceptance of an order for Professional Services, Vendor shall provide the professional services described in the applicable statement of work ("SOW") posted on Vendor's support web site (the "Professional Services"). This Agreement only covers services described in a SOW. No other services will be provided under this Agreement.

2.2 Acceptance of Professional Services. Customer shall provide Vendor with written notice of acceptance or rejection of the Professional Services within 3 business days of its receipt of notice from Vendor that the Professional Services have been completed. The Professional Services will be deemed to have been accepted by Customer if notice of acceptance or rejection is not delivered within the required period of time.

3. Term & Support Periods. This Agreement shall commence upon acceptance. Support periods shall cover the period of time indicated in the applicable sales order confirmation or acceptance document issued by Vendor. The initial Support period, once purchased, shall start upon the earlier of installation of the Product, as recorded in WDT's system of record, or three months from the date of shipment by WDT. If Support lapses for a particular Product and Customer desires to renew Support for such Product, Customer will be required to bring the Support current by paying the fees to cover the period from when the Support lapsed.

4. Fees

4.1 Customer will purchase Support and/or Professional Services either directly or through an authorized reseller. Payment for Support will be due before the applicable Support period begins. Unless otherwise indicated in a SOW, payment for Professional Services will be due when Vendor notifies Customer that the Professional Services are complete. All fees are non-refundable.

5. Relationship of the Parties. Vendor is an independent contractor and neither Vendor nor its personnel shall be deemed employees of Customer. Vendor reserves the right to determine the manner in which it performs Support. Except as set forth in the applicable Support Description, and subject to Customer's normal business hours and security requirements, Vendor shall be solely responsible for determining the times and locations at which Vendor performs Support. Vendor may, in its sole discretion, replace or reassign Vendor personnel designated to perform Support.

6. Customer Obligations and Service Conditions

6.1 Customer shall provide information reasonably requested by Vendor, including but not limited to current information on the Product identifier, serial numbers, license keys, operating system configuration, product location and key contact information for each Product location. Customer shall provide Vendor with updates on such information on a quarterly basis and as additional Products are deployed, moved or taken out of production service. Customer must notify Vendor of a change in the location of a Product at least 30 days (and up to 90 days in certain jurisdictions) before the Product is moved.

6.2 Customer shall also provide Vendor with access to Customer's materials, systems, information, facilities, and employees, including without limitation, remote access, as Vendor may reasonably require in order to deliver Support and/or Professional Services. Any obligation to provide Support will automatically terminate 30 days following such notice, unless the breaching party cures or makes substantial progress, in the non-breaching party's reasonable discretion, in curing the breach before the expiration of the 30-day period. Any obligation to provide Professional Services will automatically terminate upon delivery of the notice of termination.
